Profil

A small scale restaurant serving up big taste!

Brightly lit and welcoming, Noodle Factory is a welcome addition to Montreal's repertoire of Asian eateries. Though the food isn't particularly daring, what is new is the fact that all the noodles are homemade in front of the diners. It's quite a sight to see flour and water transformed before your very eyes into the chewy delicious noodles that are at the heart of most of the dishes on the menu.

Whatever your preference, everyone is accommodated at Noodle Factory.

Sample from a choice of beef, vegetarian or seafood dumplings, all of which are completely homemade! Whether you're in the mood for sautéed pork, beef, chicken or fish, Noodle Factory's menu has something for everyone. Soups are another specialty; well seasoned and satisfying, they eat just like a meal. Simple flavors and classic concepts offer diners much welcome comfort food.

Friendly service and small staff!

Noodle Factory is staffed by no more than five employees at a time. The cozy venue and small staff size provide a warm, family feel to the restaurant. Between the personable service and the interesting sights, a trip to Noodle Factory is something out of the ordinary.
